Elevate Your Life. Transform Your World.

Dear Editor:

Hierarchies, bureaucracy, control, and processes are preventing information age employees from exploring and realizing their true potential and helping their organizations grow to new heights. Karmic, Inc. introduces timeless wisdom from Eastern philosophy that can be used by modern managers to motivate workers and invigorate organizations.

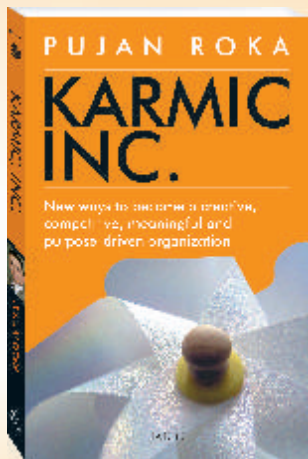

This book, which begins as a fable, explains four essential lessons from our ancient heritage, referred to as the Four Contracts of Meaningful Work. These contracts are Silence, Synchronicity, Service and Surrender.

As our age of information and knowledge is evolving at a rapid pace, we will need tools and techniques prescribed by ancient wisdom that emphasizes the fundamental principles that govern us human beings. We can motivate workers, make them creative and competitive, and invigorate organizations only by looking at those fundamental principles, and this is the premise of this book.
